

IN MEMORIAM: Patrick J McKenna (1962-2020)

The Partners, Directors and Staff of Templar Advisors are deeply saddened by the untimely death of their cherished friend and colleague Patrick McKenna. Patrick died on Sunday, 15th November following a protracted and courageous battle with motor neurone disease (ALS).

We extend our deepest condolences to his wife Libby and children, Ann and Jack.

Charles Garnett, Partner, North America, said: "Patrick's loss will be keenly felt. He was a dedicated and outstanding Templar consultant whose intellectual rigor, wit and compassion shone throughout his coaching. He was widely respected by his colleagues and clients."

Patrick's family have set up a page for remembrances.

Patrick felt that the various strands of his career arc came together during his time at Templar. He details this in his book A Few Things Before I Go, written after he received the devastating diagnosis of the disease which took his life. Dedicated to his children, both at the thresholds of their adult lives, it is both a touching memoir and a practical guide to effective communication.

A Few Things Before I Go is available on Amazon.
